

The Radiologic Technology program begins Fall semester and is a 24-month program. Full-time student status is required. Clinical assignments totaling approximately 1,400 clock hours are required and may include semester breaks.

Graduates may apply as candidates for certification by the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists.

Accredited by the Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiologic Technology.

Need more information?

catalog.chattanoogaastate.edu

www.bls.gov

tcids.tbr.edu/index.html

Career Services and Counseling Center

Student Center Room 235

423-697-4421

chattanoogaastate.edu/careers

How much can I earn?

Tennessee Annual Salary

$31,720–$55,810*

*Wages and salary data provided by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Tennessee Department of Labor

What will I do on the job?

Radiologic technologists use x-ray equipment to make images of the body, which are used to identify injury and illness. They also administer nonradioactive materials into patients' blood-streams for diagnostic purposes.

What skills will I use on the job?

You will need to be good with detail, aware of spatial relationships, precise and analytical as well as be a productive team member.

Possible job titles:

Radiologic technologist or technician, X-Ray technologist or technician.

Who will hire me?

Hospitals, emergency clinics, medical clinics, physicians offices, government health agencies, radiological manufacturer sales and service and forensic medicine.

Graduates work for such organizations as:

Memorial Hospital

Erlanger Medical Center

Physician's Care

Parkridge Medical Center

T.C. Thompson Children's Hospital

Center for Sports Medicine

Rhea Medical Center

Sky Ridge Medical Center

A National Leader in Technology

Chattanooga

State
Community College